

A Note from Johnny...

A father and son went fishing one day. After a couple hours out in the boat, the boy suddenly became curious about the world around him. He asked his father, "How does this boat float?" The father thought for a moment, then replied, "Don't rightly know, son." The boy returned to his contemplation, then turned back to his father, "How do fish breathe underwater?" Once again the father replied, "Don't rightly know, son."

A little later the boy asked his father, "Why is the sky blue?" Again, the father replied, "Don't rightly know, son."

Worried he was going to annoy his father, he says, "Dad, do you mind my asking you all of these questions?" "Of course not, son, if you don't ask questions, you'll never learn anything!" replied his father.

Do you know what the dad was teaching his son? It is okay to not know the answer to every question.

As dads, we might not know everything, but we can tell our children what we do know and help them work on learning as they journey through life.

In the book of Proverbs, you will find the father answering the questions of a son. Some of these questions are not stated, but were questions to be asked at various times in life.

Proverbs 3 tells us what to say when we don't know the answers: "trust in the Lord with all your heart and don't lean on what you know. But in everything you encounter, go to Him and He will give you the answer to the matters of your life." That is taken from the "Fain Translation."

So fathers, share with your family what you know, and guide them to search when you don't know the answers.

Teach them to go to the One who knows it all, The Lord God.

Have a great Father's Day!

Bro. Johnny